Freedom to Freedom from Freedom by Freedom with

Student Sheet 2

Writing this poem, individually or as a pair/small group, is about feeling free to write whatever comes into your head/s. The idea here is similar to SS1 but lines about the theme of 'freedom' will be more tuned to exploring the way we can live our lives in a freer world, however you view that.

It is a good approach to create as many lines as possible without considering too hard about them at the time of writing. These can be altered and improved or even removed when revising and editing at a later stage.

Grid blank

Use the quatrain grids to help you build up your lines of ideas. Here is the bare bones:

Freedom to Freedom from Freedom by Freedom with

Grid model

The following is one completed quatrain to use as a model and guide for your own writing:

Freedom to avoid hate
Freedom from wanting revenge
Freedom by sharing first
Freedom with giving once more

Keep writing and repeating these quatrains...
